Dear Parents / Caregivers

We are at the end of a very eventful Term 3. I encourage you to visit the College website news and events pages which are an excellent record of student activities and successes over this period. www.lynfield.school.nz

The past week has been a valuable one, with our senior students having the opportunity to go through assessment papers with their course teachers to find out what areas of their studies require a higher level of revision in preparation for the external NCEA exams, which begin in 6 weeks on 9 November. All senior students should take the opportunity to implement a regular study programme during these holidays. In Term 4 Year 13 will have only 11 class days before going on study leave, so it is important they organise their time effectively.

Special congratulations must go to Jackie de Pont (Year 12) who has been awarded a Goethe-Institut scholarship to travel to Germany at the end of 2017 where she will spend 10 weeks with a host family, going to school and being immersed in German culture. Jackie has written an article about her experience of applying for the scholarship, which is included in this newsletter.

On Tuesday 26 September our Year 9 and Year 10 students sat an online assessment called Tessera, the results of which will be used to inform our strategic planning. More information on Tessera is included in this newsletter.

On Thursday 28 Sep we held a vibrant and exciting Technology Showcase Evening where Fashion and Design students exhibited their creative talents on the catwalk; Year 13 Design and Visual Communication students displayed their architectural work and Year 13 Hospitality students prepared a sumptuous supper, served by Year 12 Hospitality students. This evening provided a valuable platform for students to present their work, which gained them NCEA credits. Special thanks to Ms Wensor, Ms Wills, Ms Matheson, Ms Townsend and Ms van Niekerk.

Elections for 2018 Student Executive positions were held this week, with a large number of very enthusiastic and capable students standing for positions. This involved preparing speeches which were presented at their form level assemblies. Elections for 2018 House Captains will take place in week 2 next term. The Leadership positions will be announced at the Year 12 and Year 11 Awards Assemblies in Term 4. Our 2018 Student Executive and House Captains will have their first meeting on Monday 4 December at 11.00am in I2 & I3.

The Festival Awards Evening will be held on Thursday 19 October in Term 4 and I welcome the families of students who are receiving awards to join us in celebrating the 2017 sporting, arts and cultural achievements of our very talented and committed senior students.

Please enjoy a safe and happy holiday. I look forward to our students returning refreshed and ready for Term 4 and the busy NCEA Assessment period.

Jackie de Pont's Journey in Winning a Scholarship to Germany

Since choosing to continue with German in Year 10, it has brought me so many new experiences and opportunities, most recently a scholarship to study in Germany for 10 weeks this Summer. After going on the Lynfield College Cultural Exchange Programme earlier this year, I had no hesitation in applying for the scholarships offered by the Society of New Zealand-German Student Exchange, organised by the Goethe-Institut. I saw this as an opportunity to get back to Germany and to experience something many of us never will - the snowy winter wonderland that is Europe at Christmas time.

After sending in my application, I stuttered my way through a 10-minute interview (in German) with the German National Language Advisor, Heike Papenthin, and was one of 14 students who were selected to be interviewed further at the Goethe-Institut in Wellington on a weekend. I didn't sleep for a week leading up to it, I was so nervous, but upon meeting the other 13 lovely applicants I gained a feeling of camaraderie, with all of us there making the most of the chance we had. Walking around Wellington city during the day, climbing Mt Victoria, and playing some getting-to-know-each-other games (as much as you can when speaking amateur German), I forgot myself and had a really enjoyable weekend. After our final interviews on the Sunday, I was almost sorry to be leaving the friends I had met and the great hospitality of the Goethe-Institut.

Of the two scholarships I applied for; one for one month in July that would take me sight-seeing and to many parts of Germany with a group, and one for 10 weeks this December to next February, I had my heart set on the latter. Although the longer exchange means a longer time away from home (and in fact, attending school for most of the 2 months I am there) I was willing to sacrifice the tourist experience for full immersion in the culture and the chance to see what it would really be like as a teenager living in Germany. And I was lucky enough to get exactly what I wanted.

I don't yet know where I will be staying or who my host family will be, but I know that this is a once in a lifetime chance and I will definitely make the most of it. I owe a big thank you to Frau Zimmer for pushing me to continue with German because I can say now that it has really changed my life. Thank you to NZGSE and the Goethe-Institut for providing me with such a great opportunity.

Lynfield 5 come Second in NZCETA Accounting Competition

Kitty Sun's Experience at XLAB International Science Camp in Germany

For the month of August, I had the privilege of attending XLAB International Science camp in Göttingen, Germany with the Royal Society of New Zealand. Along with students from around the world I spent the month at the lab on weekdays and on excursions during the weekend without a moment in between. Being an aspiring scientist I had always envisioned a lab as being the epitome of doing science, so actually being there, every day, was certainly surreal at first and it most certainly did not disappoint.

The month gave me invaluable insights into science lab work, allowing me to put all the theory I've learnt at school in the past years into practise. I was able to have first-hand experience of conducting science experiments and practising scientific techniques in the field of biology - everything from dissections to inserting electrodes into microscopic cells. In just a month we did courses in molecular biology, anatomy and neurophysiology.

I spent the last week of the camp at the Max Planck Institute of Experimental Medicine. Here I got the opportunity to work alongside and learn from working scientists, doing research in molecular neurophysiology. My experiences over the week showed me what my potential future as a scientist would look like and thus has me excited and motivated to continue studying science.

One of my greatest takeaways from the camp was the international friendships that I was able to make over the course of the month. It was the perfect avenue for me to meet and work with peers that shared the same passion for science as me.

The camp came at the precise time where I had to make perhaps the most significant decision of my life to date - what course I was going to do at university. Having seen for myself what a career in science looks like I can now confidently commit to pursuing it, starting with university next year.

Lastly I have to mention that I would not have been able to make it to Germany without the help of all my teachers at Lynfield College over the past five years. They have all helped every step along the way in every way possible whether it be writing me a last minute reference or replying to my constant emails. I am now better equipped and more willing than ever to pursue a future in science.

A Message from New Zealand Police

Advice on synthetic cannabis for students

Despite the recent media coverage concerning the adverse medical and physical effects from using synthetic cannabis, users of synthetic cannabis continue to come to the attention of Police and Auckland Hospital.

It is strongly recommended that you do not use synthetic cannabis as the effects of doing this cannot be predicted. Synthetic cannabis is highly addictive, so this only increases the chance of harmful effects from its use.

We also ask that you don't just look after yourself, but look after your mates as well, so that they too are not harmed through using synthetic cannabis.

Police are also appealing for your help in identifying people supplying synthetic cannabis or other illegal products, including drugs, in the community. You can report this to us through:

- Call 111 if you see it happening now.
- Call in to your local Police station to discuss what you know – you can request that any information you supply remains confidential.
- Call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111 or complete the confidential online form.
- Have your parents assist you if needed in making any report to the Police.

Advice on synthetic cannabis for parents

Recently there has been media coverage about the danger in using synthetic cannabis and the potentially serious health effects from using these products. Despite the warnings people are still presenting with adverse effects from the use of these products.

It is not uncommon for teenagers to experiment with drugs and alcohol, and it would not be uncommon for an unscrupulous drug peddler to potentially sell these products to teenagers. For that reason, Auckland City District Police have requested schools in Auckland City recommend to their students that they do not try synthetic cannabis, as the outcomes from its use are highly unpredictable and potentially dangerous.

We encourage you to have a discussion with your teenagers about synthetic cannabis (and for that matter all drugs) and let them know that they can talk to you about them. Using the recent media attention given to the issue of synthetic cannabis use is a great way to start a conversation. If they see drug use on TV, be it actual or fictional, ask them what they think about it. Listen to them, and take this opportunity to correct any misinformation they may have about drugs. Make sure that you remain calm during this conversation so that they know that if something comes up, then they can turn to you for help.

Police are appealing for information about people supplying synthetic cannabis or other drugs to members of the public. The options you, or your child, can take to report this to Police are:

- Call 111 if you see it happening now.
- Call in to your local Police station to discuss what you know – you can request that any information you supply remains confidential.
- Call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111 or complete the confidential online form.

Finally, if you need to educate yourself on drugs in NZ and how to engage further in conversation with teenagers about this, then refer to the online information and advice provided by the NZ Drug Foundation www.drugfoundation.org.nz
